

Staff Zone Expands Corporate Office in Roswell's Opportunity Zone

Staff Zone, a staffing company that specializes in providing temporary labor for the commercial construction industry, has relocated and expanded its corporate office to 863 Holcomb Bridge Road.

Located within the city's Opportunity Zone, the 11,000-square-foot building will allow for Staff Zone to grow its operations over the coming years by creating office space with the capacity to house up to 10 additional employees.

Staff Zone will renovate the building, including a complete refresh of the exterior along with an interior buildout, which will feature a large training/meeting room and a mock branch for training purposes. The second floor will include private offices and a common work area.

“Staff Zone’s decision to expand its corporate office in Roswell by investing and redeveloping a property is a big win for local retention efforts,” said Steve Stroud, executive director of Roswell Inc. “The larger space will allow the company to add employees and grow over the next decade, and we were honored to work with their team on this exciting project.”

“We are very excited to relocate and create a presence in the Roswell community, while updating and renovating a very prominent building on Holcomb Bridge Road,” said Sherri Harris, co-owner of Staff Zone. “Our team is excited to work with A Classical Studio and CRLG Holdings. Both have made our vision become an eventual reality, and Roswell Inc has been an integral part of helping us make this happen.”

Staff Zone has 31 locations in Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama, Texas and Colorado, more than 200 employees companywide, and provided jobs for more than 22,000 temporary workers in 2017.

Staff Zone is working with Joshua Roland and David Grace of A Classical Studio, and Laura Green Rothermel and Chris Rothermel of CRLG Holdings to complete renovations, both of which are located in Roswell.

For more information about Staff Zone, visit thestaffzone.com.