

GPS Trackit Brings 40 Jobs and Headquarters to Roswell

GPS Trackit, a software product development company specializing in custom fleet management solutions for small businesses, enterprises, and governments, is opening its national headquarters in Roswell, Georgia—bringing with it 40 new jobs to the city.

Located on the 3rd floor of Roswell Summit's 200 building along Holcomb Bridge Road, the company will be occupying 6,500 square feet of space starting in May of 2018.

"GPS Trackit's decision to locate in Roswell is a significant win for our city," said Steve Stroud, executive director of Roswell Inc. "Both the technology and logistics industries have a strong presence in this area, and GPS Trackit will be an excellent addition to this growing community of businesses."

"GPS Trackit is excited to establish our corporate headquarters in Roswell," said Keith Schneider, chief executive officer of GPS Trackit. "Having lived and worked in the area for seven years, I know the robust market in Roswell and the Metro Atlanta area, and the deep pool of talent available will support the growth we expect to achieve at GPS Trackit."

For more information about GPS Trackit, visit gpstrackit.com.